

Story 1

The visualization shows that most of the employees in organisations are married

This visualization depicts that the male gender prefer attrition more than the female gender

Through the visual..

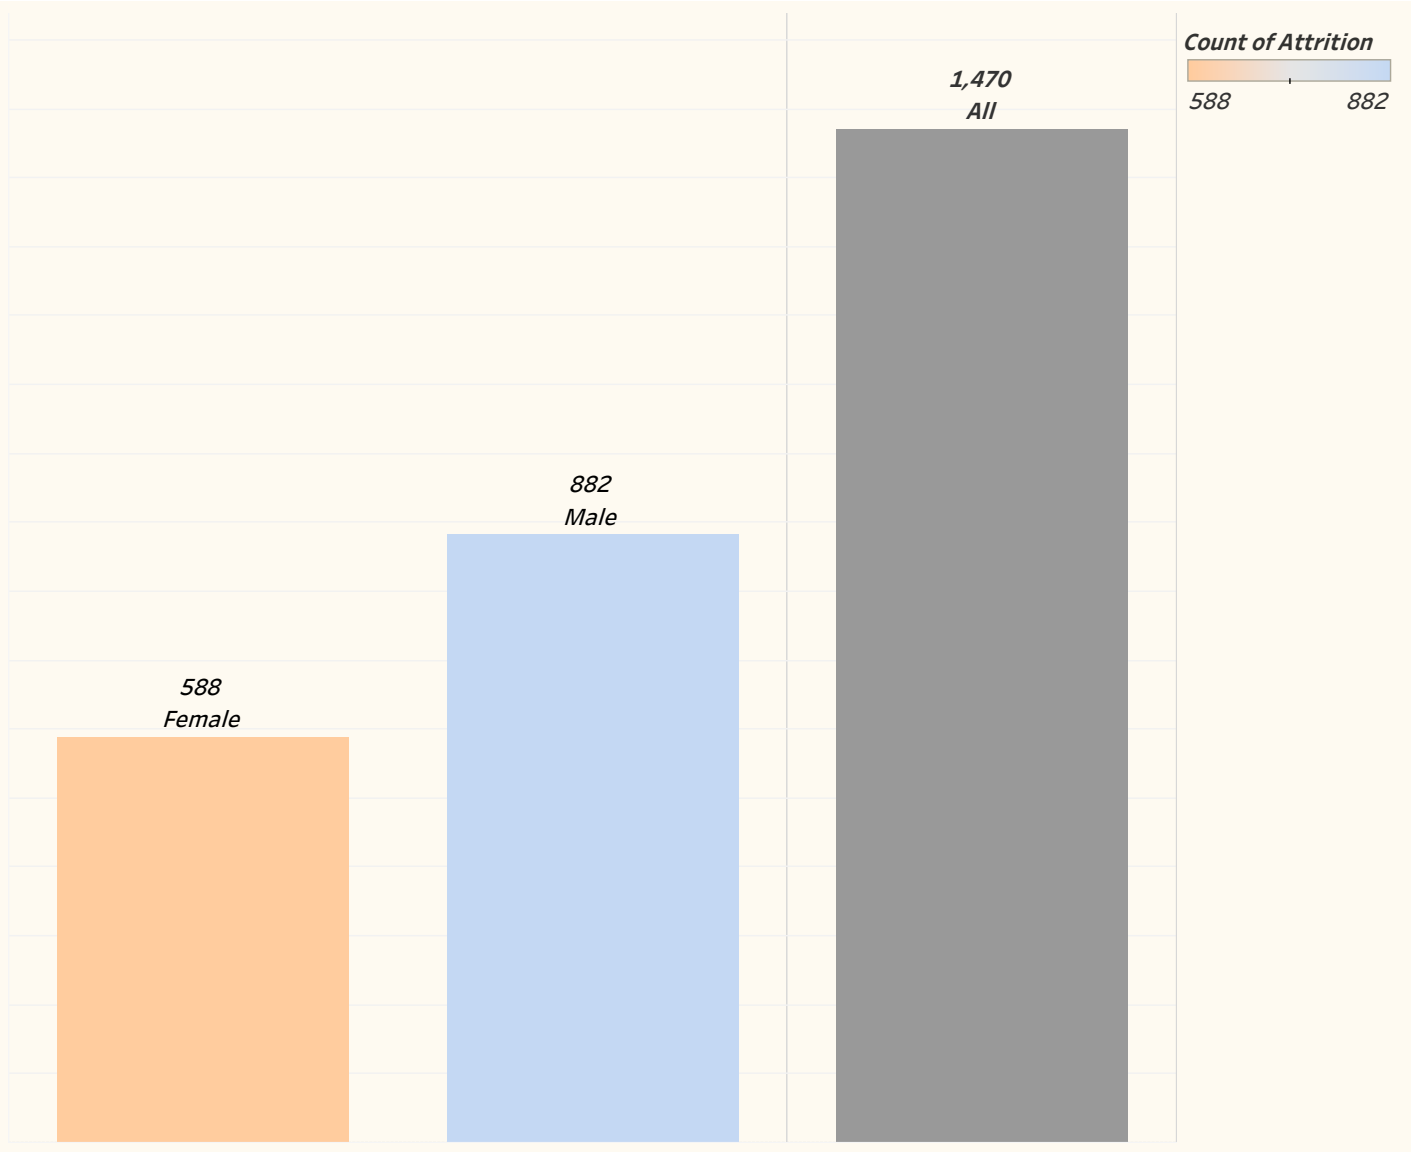

Story 1

The visualization shows that most of the employees in organisations are married

This visualization depicts that the male gender prefer attrition more than the female gender

Through the visualization we say that the R&D department has the highest job level when co..

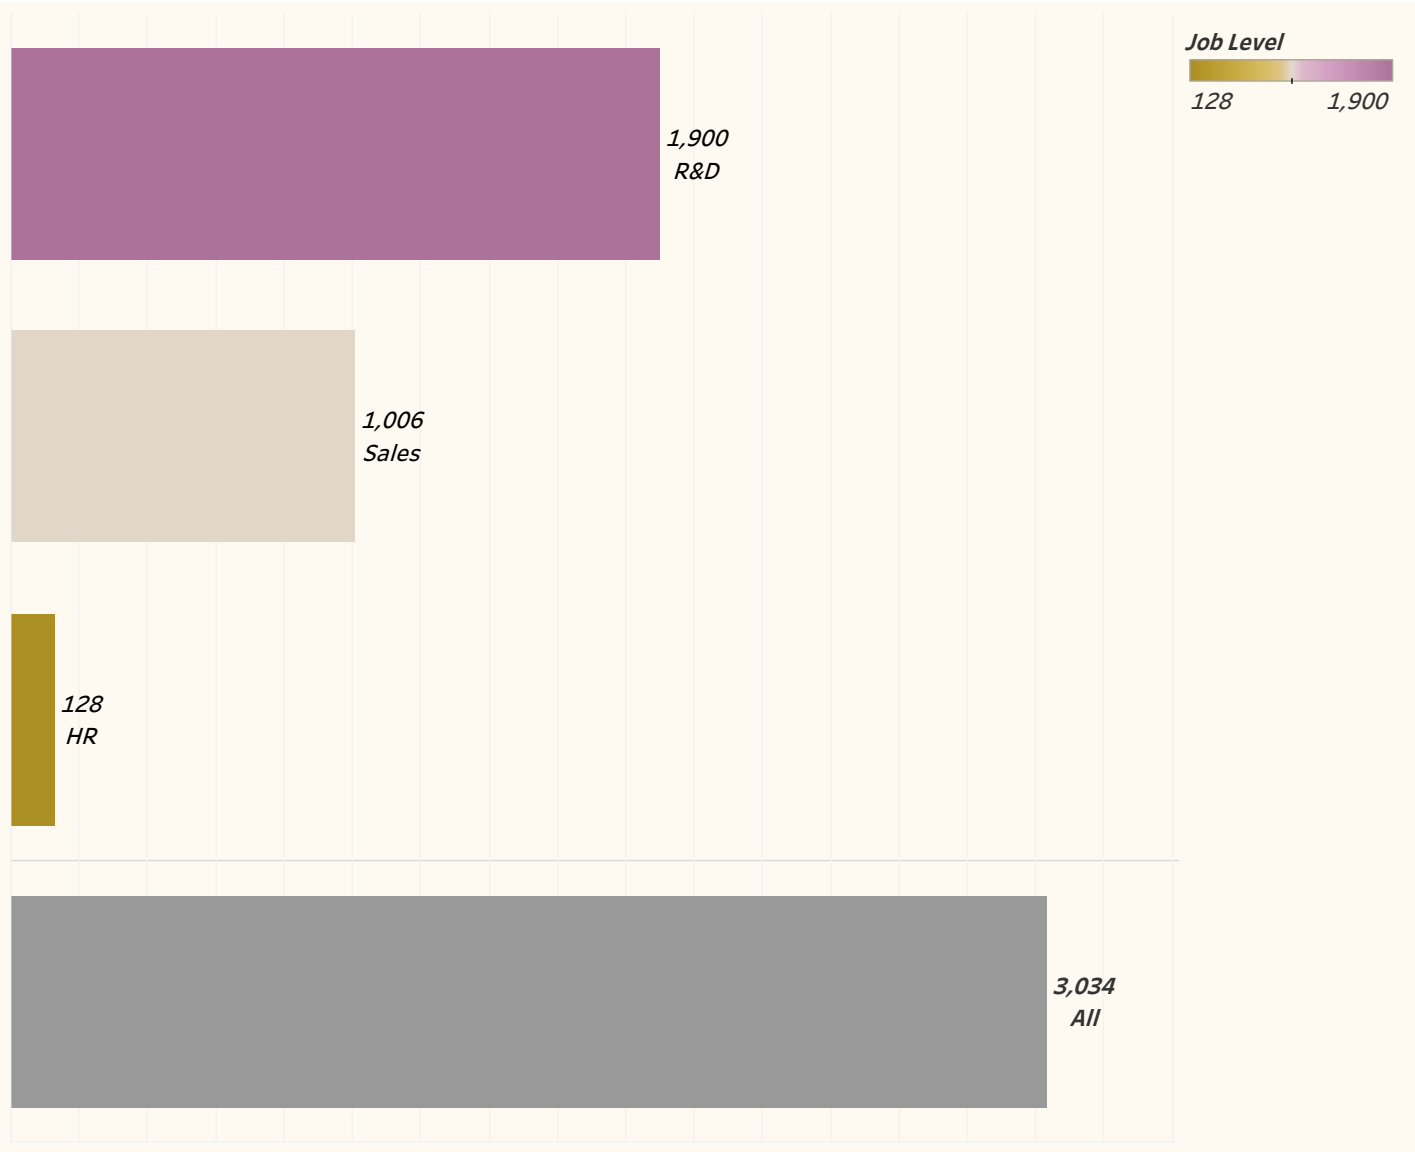

Story 1

This visualization depicts that the male gender prefer attrition more than the fem...

Through the visualization we say that the R&D department has the highest job level when comparing with others

By this visualization we can understand that the eduction field with highest count is lifesci..

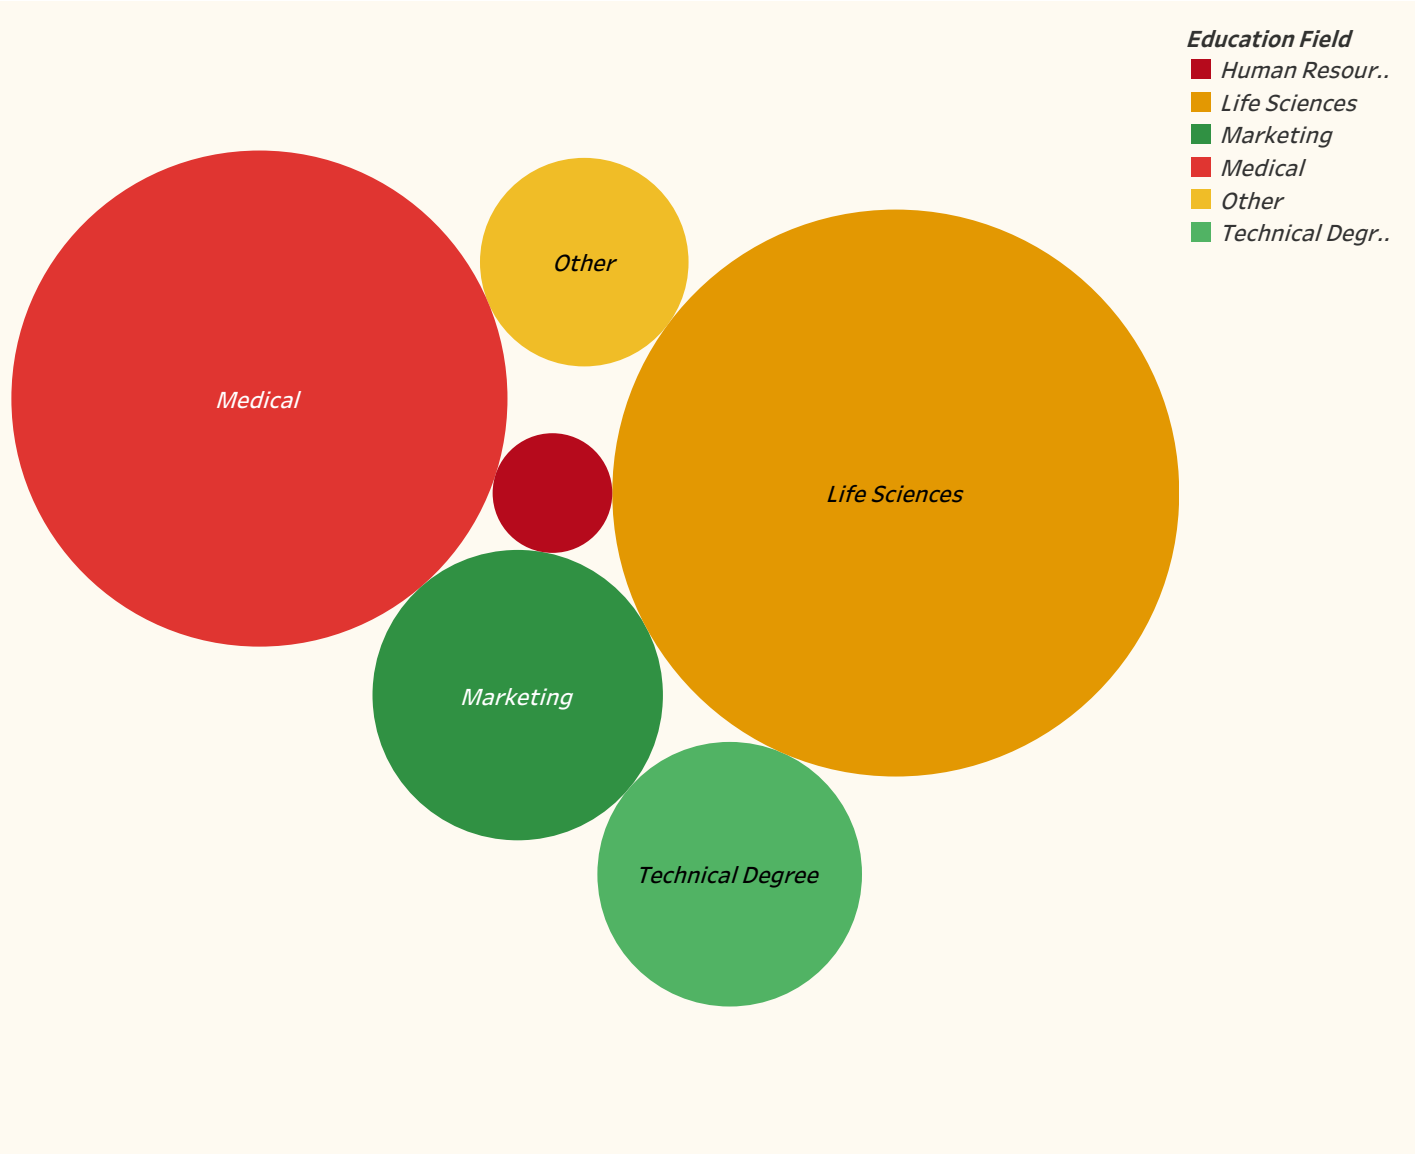

Story 1

Through the visualization we say that the R&D department has the highest job level ..

By this visualization we can understand that the eduction field with highest count is lifesciences

This following visualization let us know that the highest count of employees prefer the sle..

Story 1

Through the visual..

By this visualization we can understand that the eduction field with highest count is lifesciences

This following visualization let us know that the highest count of employees prefer the sles executive job and research scientist job

